Results of Stomach Cancer Screening

- ※ (Health insurance subscribers) If the physician documents necessity of medical care in an advanced general hospital on the Results of Medical Checkup form, this form substitutes the request of medical care (request of medical exam). Presenting this form is sufficient to schedule a medical exam at an advanced general hospital.
- ※ (Medical care assistance recipient) If an abnormality is found as a result of the health checkup and the doctor's impression written in the checkup report as further evaluation is required, the report can be used as a referral for the subject to be treated at the same institution. In case you need another kind of medical care assistance than the given case, you should be treated according to the process of medical care assistance, Article 3, "Enforcement Rule of the Medical Care Assistance Act." In case of a subject applicable to the elective medical care institution system, he/she should first be treated at the medical institution that he/she has chosen.
- ※ Stomach cancer has the highest incidence rate compared to all cancers in South Korea. It is possible to detect it through regular medical checkups and when detected early, it is commonly overcome through endoscopy remedy or surgery.
- ※ As the incidence rate of gastric cancer rapidly increases at 40 years old, even if you do not have any special symptoms, we recommend both men and women over 40 years old to have a gastroscopy or gastrointestinal examination every two years. If an abnormality is found in the gastrointestinal examination, you can check the occurrence of stomach cancer by gastroscopy until January 1 of next year.
- ※ If you experience symptoms, such as stomachache, heartburn, among others, please consult with a physician even though "no abnormality" was found from the stomach cancer examination. If your test result is not "no abnormality", please follow the physician's instructions.
- ※ People who are registered to the Benefit Extension Policy can postpone the stomach cancer screening until the end date of the policy.
- ※ Among those who have been diagnosed with stomach cancer, patients who meet the relevant condition (health insurance premium, national cancer screening, etc.) can be eligible for cancer patient medical expense support. (Contact your local health center for details.)
